The new TANGO XP espresso line launched by UNIC

To continue to take advantage of the fast-growing espresso coffee market, UNIC, part of Electrolux Professional Group, is launching a new range of super-automatic, high-performing espresso machines, the TANGO® XP line.

The range includes single and double output models and is dedicated to coffee professionals who place high expectations on premium coffee extraction.

Philippe Zavattiero, President Business Area Beverage & Food Preparation comments: "In 2019, the Group acquired UNIC to enter the fast-growing espresso coffee market, a trend that today is even stronger. With the launch of the high-performing TANGO® XP line, we have an opportunity to upscale our espresso coffee business and establish our coffee brands as leading players in the market."

The long heritage of UNIC in espresso expertise is rooted in the reliable, heavy brass patented TANGO® double chamber brew group. The technology enables replicable and high-quality results in the cup, whilst offering a sustainable option to the plastic options available today in the espresso machines market.

The TANGO® XP Duo will be presented at a customer event in Italy at the end of February. The three different models in the range, TANGO® XP Duo, TANGO® XP Solo and TANGO® XP Compact, will be officially launched together at Host Milano in October 2023. TANGO® XP will be available under the UNIC brand, as well as the Electrolux Professional brand.

"I am very proud to present this innovation from UNIC. This iconic new line of super automatic espresso machines has an impressive capacity of up to 440 espresso shots per hour, which is an outstanding performance," Zavattiero says.
